Liminal

CONFIDENTIAL PROPOSAL

PREPARED FOR GABY VIESCA AND MISSIO ALLIANCE

Drinking from our own wells.

FAMILIAS UNIDAS MESSAGING, IDENTITY, AND WEBSITE · NOVEMBER 2026 · LIMINAL

Dear Gaby,

Thank you for inviting us into Familias Unidas.

As you described the Lotería game and the Friday night music lessons in Culpeper, we kept noticing how much is already there in these churches. We'd love to help bring what's in your head and heart into a place where churches can find it and use it.

Below is a simple plan built around your budget for this year, with room to grow in 2027 if more funding becomes available.

We look forward to the conversation,

Bill Cummings

CEO, LIMINAL

02.

WHAT WE HEARD

A project that starts from what churches already have

Here is our understanding of Familias Unidas from our two conversations and the grant narrative you shared. Let us know if we missed anything.

01

Rooted in Latino gifts and traditions

Familias Unidas starts from the gifts and traditions of Latino churches and culture. It helps parents and caregivers nurture their children's spiritual lives, with resources that come from the churches themselves, shaped by their own context and culture. A project of Missio Alliance, funded through Lilly Endowment's Christian Parenting and Caregiving Initiative.

02

Latino churches first

Latino churches are the primary audience, and other churches are a second audience. The site leads in Spanish, with an easy switch to English for homes where parents and kids prefer different languages.

03

Warm, and easy to keep up

Its own warm, lively look, still connected to Missio's site (likely on a subdomain). It should feel alive but need little upkeep, so it can keep going after the grant ends. Live by mid-2027 would be ideal.

03 · PHASE 1

What we'll create together

Phase 1 gives Familias Unidas its words, its look, and a home online. We'll start with the words, because the look and the site grow out of them.

01

Messaging foundation

A discovery session with you, building on the grant narrative you've already written, and a short messaging guide: what Familias Unidas is, who it's for, why it exists, and how it connects to Missio Alliance.

02

Visual identity

A logo or wordmark, a color palette with warm, earthy tones and lively pops of color, typography, and a simple brand guide your team and partners can use.

03

Website

A bilingual WordPress site on a Missio Alliance subdomain, Spanish first with a language switch, with all three videos and case studies on the site at launch and built so your team can add new content on its own.

04

Copy-editing

Edits on the site's page copy, and on the first case study and its guiding questions, so it can be a model for the others.

A home for the stories and the resources

Language for the "why" behind the resources, so the site feels like more than a list of links.

WORDS AND LOOK

Messaging and identity

01 Discovery session with you

02 Short messaging guide

03 Language for the "why" behind the resources

04 Logo or wordmark

05 Color palette with earthy tones and pops of color, plus typography

06 Simple brand guide

PROPOSED PAGES

The website

07 Home

08 Our story: why Familias Unidas exists and the posture behind it

09 Gifts and realities: what's beautiful about Latino churches and what they face

10 Stories: all three of Jordan's videos at launch, each paired with your case study and guiding questions

11 Resources: a searchable grid of articles and downloadable guides

12 Contact

AFTER LAUNCH

Easy to keep growing

13 Templates for adding a new story, article, or resource the same way you'd publish a blog post

14 A short video walkthrough showing how to add content

15 Copy-editing on the site's pages and the first case study

05 · YOUR TEAM

Who does the work

Everyone listed here works on Familias Unidas. Our web developer joins for the website build.

RELATIONSHIP LEAD

Bill Cummings

CEO

Leads the discovery session with you and shapes the messaging guide.

PROJECT MANAGEMENT

Gracia Zelaya

SENIOR PROJECT MANAGER

Keeps the schedule on track and is your day-to-day point of contact.

DESIGN

Giancarlo Robello

SENIOR GRAPHIC DESIGNER

Designs the Familias Unidas identity and the website, and joins the first call about the board game.

CONTENT

Hannah Sherk

CONTENT SPECIALIST

Edits the site's page copy and the first case study.

06 · LOOKING AHEAD

Ideas for 2027, as budget allows

PHASE 2

- Story pages for future videos as they're finished
- Helping turn church trainings into simple guides and downloads
- Articles that keep the site fresh beyond the life of the grant
- A page where people can buy Ale's board game, with proceeds going to her

The board game

Helping Ale's game reach more families

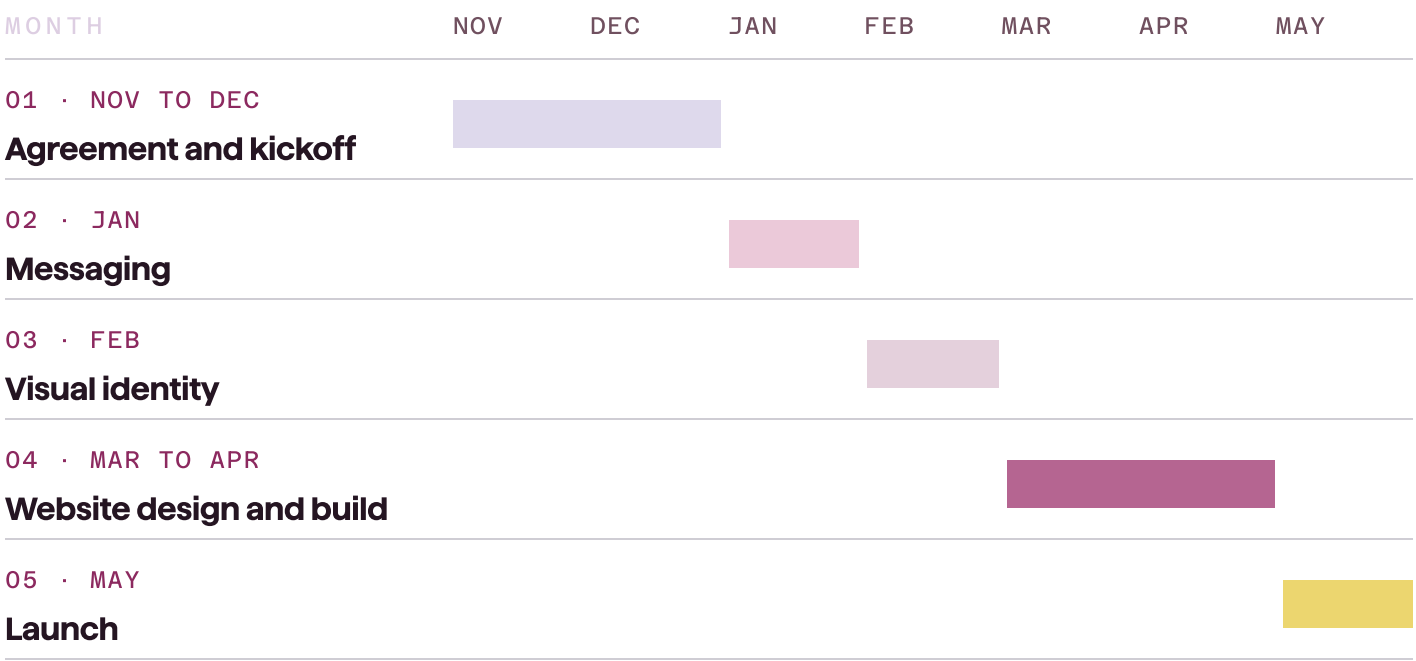

We'd love to help with this. Our next step is a call with Giancarlo, our designer in Guatemala City, to talk through the box design and some affordable options for manufacturing a first run. We'll scope that separately once we know more.

07.

PROPOSED TIMELINE

Live by May 2027

We'll start with the words in January, so the look and the website can grow out of them.

08 · INVESTMENT

Built around this year's budget

A fixed fee for Phase 1. Phase 2 and the board game are scoped together once you know more.

Phase 1 · Fixed fee

Messaging, identity, and website

$12,000

Messaging foundation, visual identity, bilingual website, and copy-editing.

Phase 2 · 2027

Stories, guides, and articles

To come

Scoped together once you know your 2027 budget.

Separate scope

Ale's board game

To come

Box design and manufacturing options, scoped after our call with Giancarlo.

PHASE 1 TOTAL

Invoiced in full before December 31, 2026, so it fits this year's grant budget.

$12,000

Liminal

09 · NEXT STEPS

Let's get Familias Unidas off the ground.

- Review the proposal with Lisa and share any questions or changes
- Set up a call with Giancarlo about the board game
- Once you're ready, we'll send the agreement and invoice

We're excited to help bring Familias Unidas to the churches who need it.

Bill Cummings

CEO, LIMINAL

bill@meetliminal.com

meetliminal.com